Rotherham CAMRA

A note from the Chairman

We have plenty of fantastic venues in Rotherham to enjoy real ale as the weather starts to turn crisper. I hope you enjoy the Autumn 2022 issue of this magazine, hopefully with a pint in one hand.

Steve Burns, Chairman
stephenburns1@sky.com

A note from the Editor

There's lots of reasons to head down to the pub this Autumn, including Oktoberfest, Halloween, and Chantry Brewery's tenth anniversary. Celebrating Rotherham businesses, Eric Twigg Foods Ltd has teamed up with Chantry for a pint & pie giveaway competition (see page 22). Twelve pints & pies to be exact! There's also plenty more to read and take part in throughout this issue of Inn Touch.

Rotherham's Real Ale Pubs

What's going on in Rotherham's pub scene?

By Paul Redfern

The Earl Of Strafford at Hooton Roberts reopened on the 7th July following a substantial refurbishment by Stongate Pubs. Managed by James Moul, formerly at the Stag, there is an emphasis on food but four real ales are served. You can just have a drink inside or in the outside areas, front and rear.

The Deer Park Tap micropub in the Deer Park Farm complex at Thrybergh is set to reopen having been granted a new licence for a trial period of a year. Expect three real ales on the bar. The owners have also taken over the former Mexborough Tap and renamed it The Coking Plant.

Chantry Brewery opened their Tap Room at the brewery in Parkgate on June 23rd. It is open to the public from 5 to 10pm on Thursday, 5pm to midnight on Friday, and midday to midnight on Saturday. Please note that there will be a door charge when there's live entertainment on, usually Saturday evenings.

The full range of Chantry real ales are usually available.

Family pub Sir Jack at Bramley now sells three ales.

The Waverley at Catcliffe has returned to selling real ale with one on.

The nearby Winter Green at Waverley now has four real ales on the bar, all from the Marstons Group portfolio. They're holding a real ale and cider festival over August Bank Holiday (page 13).

The Plough at Wingfield now has two hand pumps and the beer selection can be quite random.

The Stockyard pub at the truckstop on the Hellaby Industrial Estate has fully reopened but with reduced opening hours. Open from 4pm, the bar closes at 10pm and the pub at 10.30pm. A single hand pump now dispenses one real ale.

The deer rises again after 14 years

By Paul Redfern

The Rising Deer at Brampton-en-le-Morthen finally reopened on June 21st, 2021, after being closed since 2007. The pub was threatened with demolition or conversion to housing, but a campaign by local residents, Thurcroft Parish Council and the Rotherham Branch of CAMRA ensured the building's survival.

It was always hoped that it would eventually reopen as a pub and, thanks to Ian Wild, one-time landlord of the Robin Hood at nearby Aughton, this has now been realised. The pub, the only one in the village, is situated on Main Street and opens from midday to 11pm everyday. The building dates back around 300 years and used to have a sign with the slogan 'Our beer is drawn from the wood and sold by the pound.' This was a reference to the animal pound across the road and not money! The sign has gone but has been commemorated above the door from the car park. The former multi-roomed layout has gone and been replaced by an open plan layout that is light and airy.

As would be expected from Ian, there is a good selection of freshly cooked food available, but you can also just pop in for a drink. Currently, three real ales are on tap, Black Sheep Best Bitter, Theakston Old Peculiar and Timothy Taylor's Landlord.

It can be accessed by bus everyday except Sunday on the TM Travel No. 20 service from Rotherham to Dinnington. However, this only operates three times a day. The Stagecoach East Midlands 19 and 19a services (Rotherham-Thurcroft-Dinnington-Worksop) run seven days a week and are frequent in the daytime. Alighting at the Brampton Road stop in Thurcroft involves around a 20-minute walk to Brampton.

Pint & Plectrum

Mick Hill's take on Rotherham's music scene

By Mick Hill

Finally the new Chantry Brewery Tap (Parkgate, Rotherham) opened with a fantastic gig. Shef Leppard featuring the original Drummer from Def Leppard.

It took me back to seeing Def Leppard at the Top Rank suite in Sheffield around 1979, I think. Songs such as Wasted, Get yer rocks off, etc. Early Leppard.

Watching bands in a Brewery is a cool experience. The next event was the fantastic Lizzie and the Banshees, and they were just like watching the real thing!

There are some amazing acts lined up at the Brewery and Cutlers Arms (Westgate, Rotherham), from Prog Rock, Punk, 80s, Northern Soul, Ska, Mod, and more. Check out on Facebook and See Tickets for events.

It was a great night with Limehouse Lizzy at the Cutlers.

With fantastic bands and real ales, it doesn't get any better for live music fans.

Keep music live by supporting these events and venues that put live music on. It's better than watching the goggle box.

Thanks to everyone who supports us. It's really appreciated!

The Falstaff Inn

Death, skeletons, and refurbishment

Written by Ian & Peter Hawkrige

The Falstaff Inn had a turbulent history with multiple refusals of applications for a spirits license in the 1800s.

In 1930, Rotherham Advertiser reported an inquest into the death of Margaret Jane Hart, granddaughter of Mr Charles Edward Hart, who died playing with matches in her bed. She died from toxæmia following burns.

In 1962, Tom Willert was an 80-year-old resident who told The Star "...dug excavations in 1960 for an extended cellar, and the skeletons of two whippets and a horse's head were dug out."

In October 1990, the pub re-opened after a major refurbishment and The Falstaff's future looked brighter. Discos every Wednesday, a brand new video screen, and a retained pool table back by popular demand. Graeme and Michelle Powell, the proud landlord and landlady of the refurbished Falstaff pub, were served notice. On the 21st May 1993, the pub closed its doors and Bradford and Bingley Building Society moved in the following week.

A crackling good story

Rotherham-based Beerpig enjoys significant growth

Despite recent challenges in the hospitality industry, two Rotherham-based entrepreneurs launched Beerpig in November 2019. They now supply warm pork scratchings to over 250 pubs and clubs across the UK, which are sold directly from the bar from a custom-built warming cabinet.

“Pork scratching are the most popular pub snack in the UK, yet despite their popularity, the way they are sold today has hardly changed since they were first developed nearly 200 years ago. I felt selling warm crackling would be something that would be popular with drinkers.”

John Walker, Co-founder of Beerpig

John Walker and David Mace had to diversify when Covid-19 hit and began selling stock from their own website and Amazon. They received raving reviews from pork scratching lovers nationwide.
